

From Cam

To our BG Boys...

What's up guys, it is your BG dad Cameron. We are excited to get to know you guys in this weird virtual experience. Physical barriers do not bound God, and he is still going to work in the lives of every one of you. We love you guys and hope you get the most out of this Impact experience and your freshman year of college. We love you guys, and if you need anything, don't be afraid to reach out with anything. We know that this Impact experience is not going to be what you expected, and it wasn't what we expected either. However, I encourage ya'll to not give up on it and get the most out of it you can. Even though it is online, we will eventually be able to hang out in person. I wish you guys the best, and I hope that God does big things in ya'lls lives during and after Impact.
